

STAR TREK DISCOVERY

DSC's CREW

This is my take on the crew of the upcoming Star Trek series Discovery, taking into account whatever information is so far available about the show:

- The lead character will be a human female in the rank of Lieutenant Commander and not in the position of CO
- There will be a homosexual character in the crew.
- The crew will be very diverse regarding the human/alien species ratio.
- The series will be set about 10 years prior to Kirk's first original Five-Year-Mission. This would be around 2255.

So far, we have no idea who is going to play which character, or even what characters will be on the ship and what they will be like. The above miniature mod is nothing more than my idea what those characters will look like. We see a diverse crew from various species. In ca. 2255 the uniforms will obviously be the same like those we see in "The Cage" (set in 2254) and in "Where No Man Has Gone Before" (set in 2265).

These minis are fanart, infringement of intellectual property rights is not intended. Star Trek, Star Trek DSC and all characters thereof are (C) CBS/Paramount. The original art used for this mod is (C) Okumarts. Many thanks to all for enriching this world with ideas and art of a positive and peaceful future.

